INTRODUCTION

In 2008, the Points Based System began to operate in the United Kingdom (UK). This will manage the flow of migrants wishing to come to or remain in the UK to work, train or study.

Details of this new Points Based System can be found in the Command Paper, A Points Based System: Making migration work for Britain (which can be obtained from our website <http://www.ukba.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/managingourborders/pbsdocs/>).

The Points Based System will be introduced on a phased basis. Tier 1, which aims to attract highly skilled migrants to the UK, was the first phase to be introduced on 29 February 2008.

One of the requirements of the Points Based System will be that, in most cases, migrants coming here to undertake skilled or highly skilled work must provide evidence to demonstrate that they have an acceptable standard of English.

English is the official language of the UK. The ability to speak English to a competent level improves a migrant's potential to succeed in the UK labour market and assists with integration to the UK.

One way in which migrants can demonstrate that they can meet the required standard of English will be by providing evidence that they have passed an English language test.

Only tests that have been assessed as meeting published criteria will be accepted as evidence that the migrant meets this requirement. We will publish a list of these tests so migrants will know whether the test they propose to take will be acceptable.

Organisations are invited to apply for their English language tests to be assessed according to the required standards. This document sets out the criteria and process we will use to assess English language tests.

Once an English language test has been assessed against these requirements, organisations will be notified of the outcome. Details of the tests and organisations which meet the required standard will be published in the Points Based System guidance.

REQUIREMENTS

STANDARD OF ENGLISH

The migrant should have a competent standard of English language. The migrant will be assessed against the Council of Europe's Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, Teaching, Assessment (CEFR).

For Tier 1 of the Points Based System, the test will be required to meet level C1 on the CEFR.

For Tier 2 General, Intra-Company Transfers and Sportspeople, the test will be required to be close to level A1 on the CEFR. This test should include an ability to understand and use everyday expressions and very basic phrases, to introduce themselves and others and ask and answer questions about basic personal details.

For Tier 2 Ministers of Religion, the test will be required to meet level B2 on the CEFR.

Before approving an English language test, we will therefore need to know the mark or grade that a candidate would have to reach in that test in order for his or her standard of English to be equivalent to a particular level on the Council of Europe scale.

Further details about the CEFR can be obtained from the Council of Europe's website http://www.coe.int/t/dg4/linguistic/CADRE_EN.asp.

COMPONENTS

The English language requirement of the Points Based System is to assess a migrant's full range of language skills. Therefore, the test should cover the four language components of listening, speaking, writing and reading.

SECURITY OF TEST

The test should be secure to prevent any possible attempt at deception during test sittings. In particular, organisations will need to take steps to confirm the identity of those sitting tests, in order to avoid impersonation.

SECURITY OF AWARDS OR CERTIFICATES

The test awards should be secure and encompass a number of security features to counteract any attempts to produce fraudulent evidence. This should include minimum requirements of the candidate's name and a unique reference number.

VERIFICATION

The organisation should have a system in place to enable the UK Border Agency to verify test results where there are doubts about the test certificate.

This should be either a website verification service or a telephone or email facility where verification can be obtained within a 24 hour period.

FAST TRACK SERVICE

Preferably the organisation should offer a service where applicants can request the fast-tracking of their test and results. However, this is not an absolute requirement.
